

Professor Raman with Mahatma Gandhi at the Institute (1936).

Courtesy: T. M. K. Nedungadi

Professor Raman (third from left) seen with a group of distinguished scientists, among whom may be seen W. Heisenberg, Niels Bohr and E. Schrodinger (fourth, fifth and seventh from left).

A 1936 photograph showing Professor and Lady Raman with Max and Hedi Born (third to sixth from left, front row). Also seen in the picture are C. S. Venkateswaran, N. S. Nagendra Nath, (first and seventh from left, front row) R. Ananthakrishnan, B. V. R. Rao, (second and sixth from left second row) and R. S. Krishnan (third from right, last row).

Courtesy: B. V. R. Rao.

A 1940 photograph showing Professor and Lady Raman with R. A. Millikan and Mrs. Millikan (fifth and sixth from left, front row). Also seen in the picture are H. J. Bhabha, K. R. Ramanathan, H. V. Neher, W. H. Pickering (second, third, fourth and eighth from left, front row), Vikram A. Sarabhai and T. M. K. Nedungadi (first and fourth from left, second row).

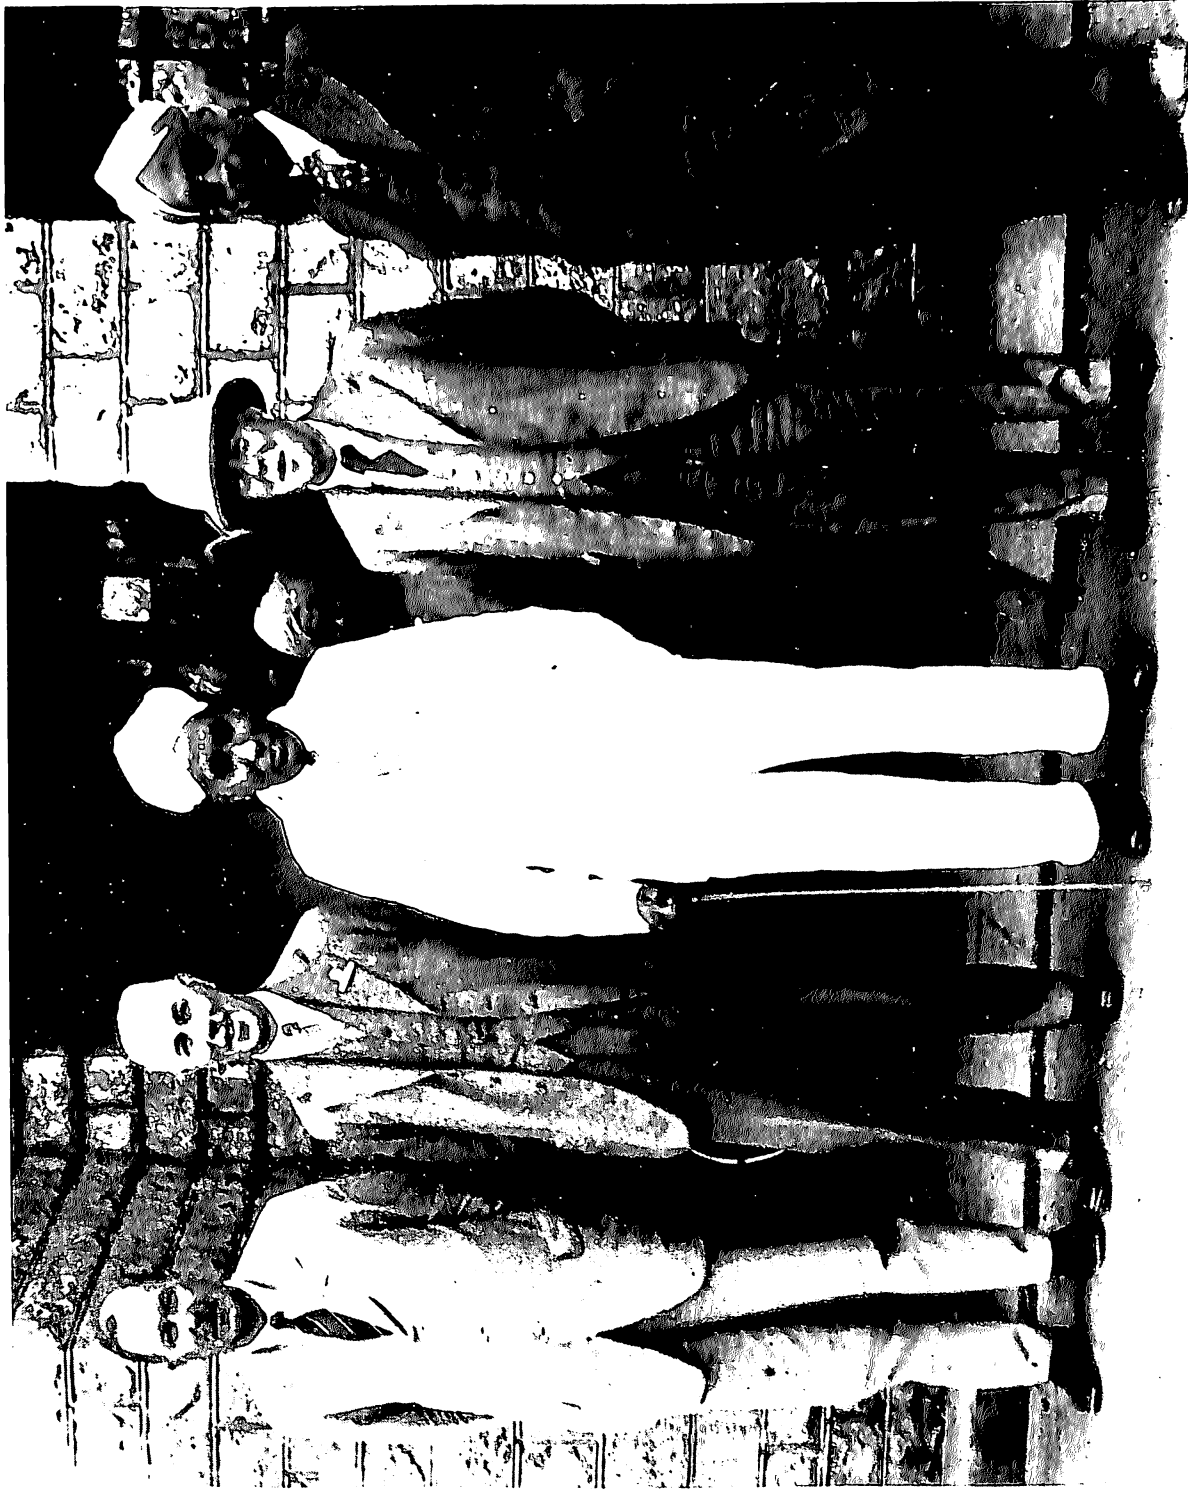

Courtesy: S. Ramaseshan

Professor Raman with visitors in his lab.

Courtesy: S. Ramaseshan

Professor Raman with some colleagues and associates, among whom can be seen K. S. Krishnan (first from left, front row), T. R. Seshadri, K. Ramiah and S. Bhagavantam (third, second and first from right, third row).

Courtesy: T. M. K. Nedungadi

Professor Raman with K. Aston (to his immediate right), O. W. Richardson and B. Venkatesachar (to his immediate and far left).

Professor Raman with Pandit Nehru.